Robert J. Sannelli joined Rose Commercial Real Estate in April 2015 and brings 30 years of experience in the real estate industry to serve Rose Commercial's new and existing clients. Formerly, as partner and Director of Operations of the D'Anastasio Corporation, Robert was involved in the construction, marketing, management and leasing of office buildings, shopping centers and residential tract developments. As a former Commercial Loan Officer and Vice President of a major New Jersey Bank (now PNC) Robert possesses credentials in loan structuring and finance. Robert also brings an innovative approach to Marketing and Leasing earning numerous awards from trade associations.

Robert is a graduate of Rutgers University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting. He is also a licensed New Jersey Real Estate Salesperson and a longtime resident of Cherry Hill. Robert also continues to maintain his personal and business relationships in Philadelphia, his birthplace.

Aside from his professional responsibilities Robert is committed to his community by serving as a Youth Spiritual Development instructor of 12 – 13 year old children. For 9 years, Robert served on the Board of Directors of the Laymen's Retreat League in Malvern, Pennsylvania, the world's largest Laymen's Retreat facility, boasting over 20,000 members. Additionally, Robert served and chaired a number of Committees in the Laymen's organization, including the Finance and Strategic Planning Committee. Because of his continued efforts, he eventually became a recipient of the Distinguished Service Award and was inducted into the C.A. [Chief Accountability] Hall of Fame.
